But since I made the mods with other people using them in mind, I might as well put some guides on how to use them here too.. However, keep in mind that for whatever reason, mods won't load unless there's other text in the level title before the tag, so you should write something like My Level<img src='http://example.

Remember, all of the stuff I put here are Level Designer-specific, so there won't be any mods for Story Mode.. Luckily, you can bypass that limit by editing the level code, although that might be complicated for some people.. This will cause the game to load the swf file, and since the swf file shares variables with the main game itself, you can basically write code in those swf files to add or redefine variables, arrays and even functions, allowing for new features, gimmicks, etc. Differenet Media Players For Mac
